SG Multiply

Multiplying church-centered savings groups through partnership

A savings group formed by The Salvation Army in Haiti

HOPE'S SAVINGS GROUP MODEL

Developed in partnership with local churches, savings groups provide vulnerable families with access to a safe place to save, small loans from their pooled savings, and a community to care for each other's needs. Where poverty has brought loneliness and isolation, savings groups foster Christ-centered community and support.

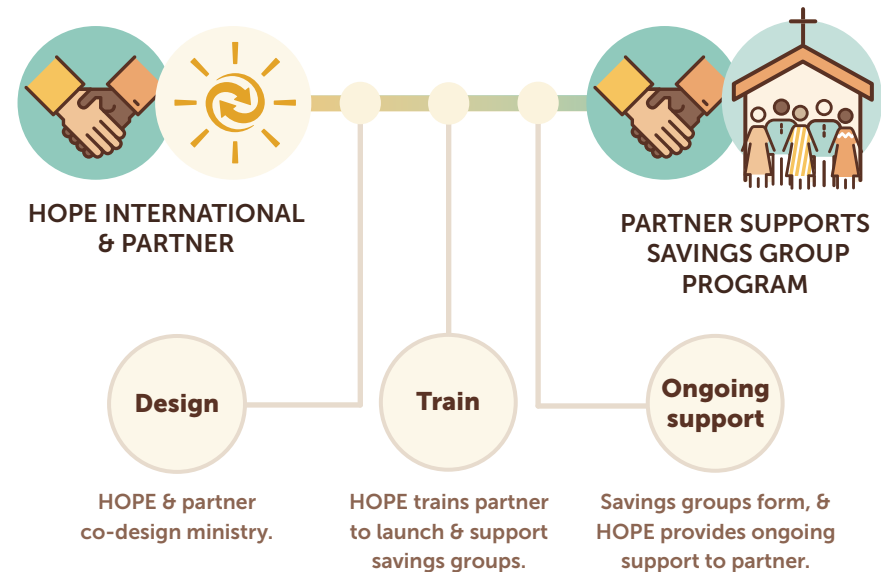

“ My family eats better, dresses better, has access to school and better health care. The savings group is my pride. ... The savings group helps people to love each other and have unity, because they run into each other, read the Bible together, save money together. It brings people together and builds unity in this community.

Pascalie Butoyi
Savings group member, Burundi

SG MULTIPLY: HOW IT WORKS

SG Multiply is an initiative to expand the reach and impact of church-based savings groups. Recognizing that the need for this poverty-alleviation tool far exceeds HOPE's expansion capacity as one organization, we're equipping other organizations to start new savings groups in churches and communities they already serve.

SG MULTIPLY: PARTNER EXPERIENCE

“ One of our main goals is to bring out the local church as the hero in driving holistic community development, and SG Multiply does exactly that because it originates from the Church.

SG MULTIPLY: HOW IT WORKS

Through SG Multiply, HOPE has engaged 11 partners since 2018. Working alongside other Christ-centered organizations, we're joining together in Kingdom work around the globe.

PARTNER SPOTLIGHT

In 2019, the Anglican Diocese of Mount Kilimanjaro based in Arusha, Tanzania, partnered with HOPE International to start and support a savings group ministry among its members. In early 2020, amid the COVID-19 pandemic, the diocese launched the ministry in 30 of its churches.

Despite the challenges caused by the pandemic, 32 church facilitators have received training, and 32 savings groups have formed, reaching a total of 671 members. The diocese is looking forward to growing this ministry to 68 savings groups by the end of 2021. Many members testify that groups have become more than a place to save money: They also foster strong relationships in their lives.
